Eros & Psyche

by

Gabi Scholl

Aphrodite, goddess of beauty, was worshipped by the mortals for her beauty.

But, her position as the most beautiful being was being threatened by another:

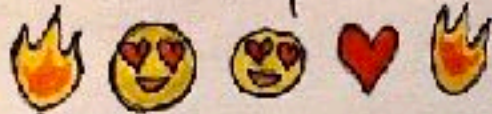

When she saw the way other mortals worshipped
the beauty Psyche ...

than Aphrodite

She became furious.

She called on Eros, god of love, to make Psyche fall in love with the ugliest creature he could find.

So, Eros journeyed to the human realm.

His goal to make Psyche fall in love with the ugliest creature.

Eros arrived to the human world, and found Psyche at her home.

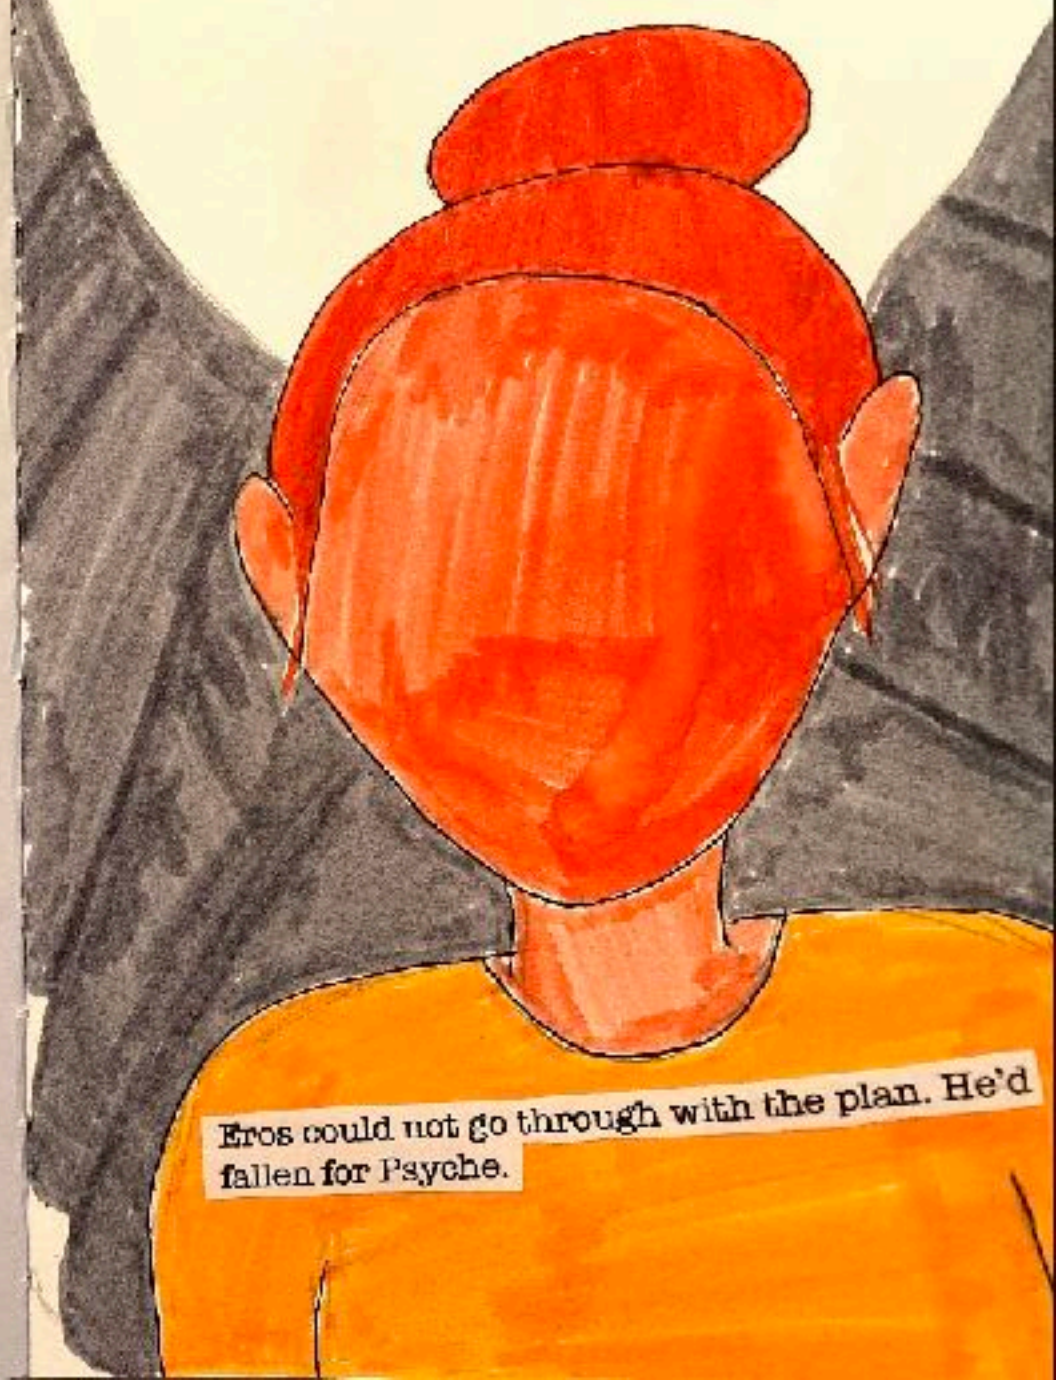

Psyche was the most beautiful being he'd ever seen. Her beauty put Aphrodite to shame.

Eros could not go through with the plan. He'd fallen for Psyche.

Bros decided to pose as a hideous snake creature.

He took Psyche away.

He took her to a cabin, and hid her away. He kept her there. Psyche was now Eros's for the rest of her life.
